

I feel hmm
pretty good. Tired.
Do not care about stuff
so much anymore. Floaty.
Ready for summer, vaca.
Yeah. That's how I feel.

I thought two years were really long which is not. It arrives suddenly. When I entered the school I thought I would be a super hacker, which is not. But I'm still super happy with what I've learned. What else? It's a bit paradoxical. I'm happy to end one stuff in my life, but I'm also afraid. What should I do after? How can I earn money? Afraid of what I can do what I want to do. Maybe after graduation it's hard. Stay a slave of capitalism.

(Peeling grapes)
Oh god, I feel terrible.
Overwhelmed. Just a permanent state of stress. Hahaha.

I'm feeling, I
still have to realize that this path is ending up in a way but I'm not that melancholic that I would have expected to be because I feel like it is another beginning. Basically, starting from what we already build together.

Relieved.
Just give me a cocktail.

Not so good,
really tired actually. I am a bit tired, but not really because of only graduation. Not so proud. I was expecting to be more proud at this stage.
I'm a bit afraid if my friends would see my graduation. I'm happy my parents won't come to my graduation. I just want to have it done and continue on it until it works.
